

Robin Antin's Burlesque Review, inspired by her successful pop group, the Pussycat Dolls, is recognized as "LA's hottest ticket of the year" by People magazine.

Robin created her Pussycat Dolls burlesque review back in 1995, at Johnny Depp's Viper Room, which attracted the hottest celebs as guest Pussycats, such as Gwen Stefani, Christina Aguilera, Charlize Theron, Scarlett Johansson, and Christina Applegate to name a few.

In 2003, she signed a deal with Interscope Records, turning her "Burlesque Review" into a recording pop group and making it an international sensation. In 2005, she linked a deal with Caesars Palace to create her very own Pussycat Dolls lounge/casino that would give her the freedom to continue her original concept- Robin Antin's Burlesque Review.

Four years later-present day 2009, and recently launching her very own Pussycat Dolls lingerie line-Robin's PCD brand continues to expand. By bringing her Burlesque Review to the forefront comes a live, energetic, sexy review...so gentleman hold on to your hats, and ladies hold onto your gentleman, this new litter "...is meowing louder than ever." (LA Metromix)