

Sophia Bush's star is on the rise. In 2007, she starred in three feature films while portraying 'Brooke Davis' on The CW's hit drama, One Tree Hill. Born and raised in Pasadena, California, Bush developed a passion for performing while in high school.

In 2007, she garnered the most individual Teen Choice Awards, taking home awards in the categories of "Choice Movie Actress: Comedy," and "Choice Movie: Breakout Female." And upon the premiere of One Tree Hill's fifth season, Bush was named one of the "Top Most-Searches for TV Personalities" by Yahoo!.

Bush starred opposite Sean Bean in the 2007 remake of the classic horror film, The Hitcher, for Focus Features. She recently completed production on Serenade Films' The Narrows, a movie based on Tim McLoughlin's novel, Heart of the Old Country. Bush portrays 'Kathy Popovich,' an NYU student who attracts the attention of a mysterious fellow student.

In July 2006, Bush starred in 20th Century Fox's comedy, John Tucker Must Die, co-starring Jesse Metcalfe and Brittany Snow. She also starred in the Buena Vista Pictures thriller, Stay Alive, opposite Frankie Muniz and Adam Goldberg.

Bush made her big screen debut in the 2002 comedy, Van Wilder, with Ryan Reynolds. She also appeared in HBO's Point of Origin, with Ray Liotta and John Leguizamo, and the independent film Learning Curves. She was also featured in a recurring role on the provocative FX drama, Nip/Tuck.

Currently living in Wilmington, North Carolina, where One Tree Hill films, Bush enjoys reading, photography, and spending time with her friends.